REL 3380 or RLG 5385: NATIVE AMERICAN RELIGION

EXPERIENCE A FUGUE OF FIVE SENSES IN THE CULTURES OF THE MAYA, AZTEC, QUECHA AND OTHER INDIGENOUS CULTURES

Professor: Andrea Mantell Seidel
Days/Times MWF - 2:00-2:50 pm
Graduate seminar M – 3:00-3:50 pm

Experience learning through a multisensory feast of music, dance, visual art, storytelling, and ritual out in nature. This course provides an introduction to Native American religion and spirituality, focusing on the sacred ecology, mythology, cosmology, ritual and dance complexes of a number of diverse tribes within North, Central, and South America. Native American religion is addressed within the larger historical and contemporary social, political, and cultural contexts.
