WELCOME!

This course is a foundational course offered by the Religious Studies Department. The course incorporates the study of scripture, belief and practices, and the historical and social context of religion. This course introduces the field of Religious Studies by looking at topics and themes such as doctrine, ritual, scripture, mysticism, pilgrimage, and myth across two or more religions while also introducing methodological approaches to the comparative study of religion. In all, by studying the major contemporary theoretical approaches to religion, students will gain insights into similarities and differences across religions, as well as, exposure to the most salient elements of religious traditions such as scripture, rituals, and institutions.

To be sure, today God is very much alive. Perhaps not in the same ways as in the past centuries, but just by looking around we find that our politics, pop culture, and every-day-life is imbued with religious symbols and motivations. Then the question at hand is: in what ways is God alive and why is this relevant to my career, my private, and civic life? This course is interested in providing a systematic analysis on the different ways in which the sacred informs and dialogues with our secular ways. That is, how religion is connected with our politics, art, culture, technology, medicine, architecture, psychology, environmental and sexual and gender ethics. We will use text readings, in class participation, and multimedia to explore basic concepts in the study of religion and how they relate with the dynamics of society. This format’s scope includes the exploration of concepts such as deity, cosmology, and myth, ritual, scripture, ethics, and salvation/liberation. We will analyze religious phenomena from a psychological, sociological, and anthropological perspectives.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of the course students will be able to:

- Explain the basic history, development, and belief systems of various religious tradition
- Recognize religious themes and concepts found in other cultures
- Identify the meaning behind religious concepts and symbols
- Critically engage the issue of religious diversity in national and international contexts (Global Engagement)
- Analyze issues in the field of religious studies from multiple approaches (Global Perspective)
- Evaluate the interrelationship between his/her own and others’ religious views as they relate to understanding other cultures and solving common problems (Global Awareness)

GRADING
All major writing assignments must be completed in order to pass. All work must be the authors own original work for this class. You must earn a grade of C or higher to pass ENC 1102. A “D” or lower will result in having to repeat ENC 1102. Your grade will be determined in the following way:

CANVAS

This class will be web-assisted through Canvas: https://fiu.Canvas.com/. On Canvas, you will have access to unit plans and assignment sheets, as well as discussion boards and forums. Please use the email address provided at the beginning of this syllabus to contact me, rather than using the Canvas function. I will occasionally send out announcements through Canvas of any changes. Additionally, it is through Canvas where you will submit final drafts of all major writing assignments.

ATTENDANCE

Attendance is absolutely required and will be taken for every meeting; class should only be missed in the case of emergencies and sickness. Each class is built on the next, so missed classes will throw you behind quickly. In addition, excessive absences hurt your participation grade.
You are responsible for any material missed as a result of absence or tardiness. I suggest using Canvas to contact fellow classmates to find out what you missed.

Tardiness

Three tardies equal one absence. While the occasional traffic delay may cause you to arrive to class late, regular tardiness is disrespectful to both your instructor and your fellow students and will affect your final grade.

PARTICIPATION

You are part of a learning community. We all depend on one another for the best classroom experience. Credit for participation will be earned by taking part in in-class discussions, and group work, and individual or classroom exercises. Students will also be asked to lead classroom discussion on weekly reading once during the semester. Students will sign up for discussion lead date on Canvas. Failure to lead class discussion on assigned date will result in a ‘0’ grade for participation.

ASSIGNMENTS

All assignments are due at the beginning of class on the due date. Most homework will be turned in through Canvas. Late homework assignments are not accepted.

REVISIONS

At the end of the semester, you are allowed to revise one of your submitted essays. In order to qualify, you must have turned in the original essay by the due date and have received feedback on that initial Final Draft. If the revision shows a significant improvement, you will get a higher grade which will replace the original grade. Your revision must be accompanied with a cover letter that describes the changes you made, explains why you made them and why you think those changes improved your essay.

LATE ESSAY ASSIGNMENTS

All major writing assignments are due at the beginning of class on the due date. The letter grade will be reduced ½ grade for every day a final draft is late. In addition, you will not be able to revise this essay at the end of the semester for a higher grade. For example, if you turn in a “B” paper a day late, it will be reduced to a “B-,” and cannot be revised for a potentially higher grade. FAILURE TO TURN IN ANY ONE OF THE FOUR MAJOR WRITING PROJECTS WILL RESULT IN FAILING THE COURSE.

PLAGIARISM

Please review FIU’s web page about plagiarism (representing another’s work, ideas, expressions, or materials as your own), http://www2.fiu.edu/~oabp/misconductweb/5beaconlettertoallstudents.htm, and here http://www2.fiu.edu/~oabp/misconductweb/1acmisconductproc.htm to make yourself aware of the disciplinary sanctions resulting from academic misconduct. Print and sign the last page of the course syllabus and return to me by the third week of class.

FORMAT

Unless specified otherwise, all assignments, including homework, must be formatted to MLA standards. All drafts and essays must be typed, doubled-spaced, Times New Roman 12pt. font. Anything turned in improperly formatted will be reduced by ½ letter grade.
Smart Phones

Smart phones are a fact of life. Rather than attempt to fight a losing battle against smart phone use in class, there will be assignments throughout the semester that will require the use of smart phones or other internet enabled devices to complete. During class discussions or instructor lectures I ask that you keep your smart phone use to a minimum in order to maintain an active learning environment.

Turnitin

Most work turned in to Canvas will be Turnitin assignments. You will receive feedback and comments through this service. Additionally, TurnItIn will check your work for instances of plagiarism, and your work will remain in their database (they use it to check other students’ papers for plagiarism). In this class, TurnItIn can be used primarily as a learning tool to help you understand how to properly site sources and use quotations. Only access TurnItIn through Canvas.

Getting help

Your instructor is your best resource! Please come to me with any problems or questions, because I want to help you succeed in my class. However, you may find that the class time we have isn’t always enough to ask me questions and get individual feedback on your work. Don’t forget that I am available for you outside of our regular class time, too. My office hours and phone number are listed on the top of this syllabus.

Beyond me, students may benefit from other resources FIU offers. Here are some frequent obstacles students face, and what programs and services FIU provides to assist.
I’m having trouble with a writing assignment. I can’t get started, organize my ideas, develop this beyond the first two pages, etc.

Center for Excellence in Writing (more casually called the Writing Center). http://writingcenter.fiu.edu

During any stage of the writing process, the writing consultants at the writing center are available to help you set clear goals, bring focus to your ideas, and encourage creative and critical thinking. I may, at any point in the semester, recommend you visit the writing center. However, I do actively encourage all students to take advantage of this great resource. Even the most confident writers can benefit from the help our writing center provides. The CEW can be found on the first floor of the Library (GL120).

I’m having trouble reading these academic articles. I am finding it difficult to study effectively. My high school study strategies aren’t working in college.

University Learning Center. http://undergrad.fiu.edu/cas/learning/index.html

The Learning Center is also found in GL120, and also has peer tutors available to help you. The Learning Center is the place to go if you want assistance focused on reading or study skills.

I’m really stressed out and it’s affecting my classwork or my life. I’m having personal problems that are interfering with school.

If you find your academic performance (or just your daily life) is hindered because of anxiety, stress, depression, relationship issues, or other personal struggles, FIU offers Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) to help you. CAPS consists of licensed psychologists, licensed clinical social workers, and trainees with expertise in dealing with student concerns and development. Registered students are eligible to utilize these services and participate in the programs.

I have a diagnosed disability and need accommodations in order to do my best.

Disability Resource Center. http://drc.fiu.edu

Any student with a diagnosed disability has access to special accommodations through the DRC. You must register with the DRC in order to receive such accommodations.

MORE CONTACTS

If you have concerns/questions about this class that you are unable to resolve with me, you should contact the Associate Directors of the Writing Program, Robert Saba at MMC or Cindy Chinelly at BBC.

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>An A paper is extraordinary work that more than fulfills the requirements of the assignment. This essay tackles the topic in an innovative way, with a clear sense of audience and purpose, an insightful thesis, and an appropriate and effective organization. The structure is carefully planned; each section of the essay develops the thesis with logical arguments and specific, conclusive evidence which has been interpreted and clearly related to the writer’s point. The style is energetic and precise: the sentence structure is varied and the words are carefully chosen. How the writer says things is as excellent as what the writer says. There is evidence of careful editing since the essay contains few grammatical and/or mechanical errors and, if necessary, is correctly documented using MLA format.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>A B paper is clearly above-average and more than meets the requirements of the assignment. Like the “A” paper, it has a clear thesis and organizational strategy; and each paragraph provides unified, coherent, and developed support for its thesis and subordinate assertions. If necessary, it properly documents sources. While the essay takes some “risks,” attempts complex strategies of development, and pays attention to audience, it falls short of the “A” essay in one or more of the following ways: the thesis may not be as interesting or insightful; there may be weaknesses in organizational strategy or its execution; the support may not be uniformly conclusive and convincing; and the style may not be as energetic or the diction as thoughtful. The essay shows strong evidence of editing since there are relatively few grammatical and/or mechanical errors.</td>
