Course Objectives

This course is designed to delve into religion and understand its complex nature. We will explore the various histories, elements, and dimensions that make up today's world religions. Essentially, we will try to engage in an earnest study of religion.

We will discuss world religions in their formative years as well as understanding their subsequent history and development. Class assignments, discussions, as well as a research paper are all geared to make the student really think and analyze the ins and outs of world religions. In essence the student will explore how religions were formed, sustained, and how they are continually evolving, especially in this increasingly globalized world and economy.

Learning Outcomes

- Students will grasp how today's world religions were initially formed
- Students will obtain a basic understanding of the history corresponding to today's world religions
- Students will learn basic terminology and practices related to today's world religions
- Students will analyze the development and evolution of today's world religions
- Students will understand how an individual's identity and outlook are shaped by religious influences
- Students will be able to analyze topics in the field of religious studies from multiple perspectives
- Students will be able to apply critical thinking to important topics in the field of religious studies
- Students will be able to appreciate the need and willingness to think creatively about religious issues in the contemporary world
- Students will be able to evaluate their own and others' religious views as they relate to understanding other cultures and solving common problems

10% Class Presentation

25% Final Exam

Participation and Attendance Policy

- These elements are key and essential components for satisfactory completion of this course. The course is highly interactive and requires heavy student engagement and a class presentation.
- Each student is allowed two absences but keep in mind your own responsibilities and how it might affect your grade. Any religious observances should be discussed with me ahead of time.

Reading Policy

All readings are to be done for the week they appear on the course calendar.

Research Paper

A research paper will be written based on one of the world religions covered in the course. It will be submitted twice. Once as a draft, 3-4 pages long, and as a final draft 7-8 pages long. The research will be limited to contemporary issues that a religion might be facing. All work will be consistent with MLA citation guidelines and submitted through turnitin.com. The final product will be 7-8 pages long and written in “college-level” writing standards.

A handout with specific requirements will be handed out in class.

Keep electronic and paper copies of all written work. For your own protection, keep a copy of your turnitin.com electronic receipt (confirmation of assignment submission) until you have received your final grade for the course.

Mid-term Exam

The mid-term will be a timed 50 question multiple choice exam and a timed mid-term essay targeting major concepts and ideas in the study of religion.

Class Presentation

A class presentation will be done based on the research obtained for the paper and the student will discuss and present their findings to the class. A handout with specific requirements will be handed out in class.

Final Exam

The final will be given during finals week during the scheduled exam date. There will be a timed 50 multiple choice question exam and a timed final essay targeting major concepts and ideas in the study of religion.

No make-up final exams will be allowed.

Turnitin and Grading Scale

The research paper will be submitted through www.turnitin.com by 11:59 pm on the due date specified on the course calendar.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism will not be tolerated. Plagiarism, or attempting to pass off another's work as your own, falls into three different categories:

1. A written work that is entirely stolen from another source;
2. Using quotations from another source without properly citing them; and
3. Paraphrasing from another source without proper citations.

Students are expected to understand the definition of plagiarism. See the University Code of Academic Integrity at <http://www.fiu.edu/~oabp/misconductweb/2codeofacainteg.htm> if you need further clarification. Offenders will receive a 0 for the plagiarized assignment

Late Policy

For each late day I will deduct 5% off the total percentage for that assignment. The latest day an assignment will be accepted is FOUR DAYS after its original due date with a 20% deduction from the late assignment

Again, there will be no make-up final exams
